Global Compact Pakistan Local Network Organises Business

Walk and Talk Against Corruption in major cities of Pakistan on 25th march 2012

Business community members, civil society, NGO's and academia attended the Seminar and National Walk organized by the UN Global Compact Local Network (GCLN) in collaboration with Employers' Federation of Pakistan (EFP) and Lions Clubs International, District 305 (S-1) Pakistan, to say "NO" to corruption. The event was simultaneously held at Islamabad, Peshawar, Lahore and Karachi on Sunday 25th March 2012.

The national walk was coordinated by Col.(R) Usman Bhatti, Member Steering Committee GCPLN and Co Chair Anticorruption sub committee GCPLN. Thal Engineering donated special caps containing slogan of "Say No To Corruption" for participants of national walk in all the cities of Pakistan.

The object of the Seminar and the walk was to effectively convey the collective desire of business to combat the evil affects of corruption on business and society and to integrate and promote the principles of UN Global Compact relating to anti corruption which require that "Business should work against corruption in all forms including extortion and bribery.

A View of National Walk and Talk Against Corruption in Karachi

In Karachi, the speakers at the Seminar emphasized upon business community to play its role in combating corruption by internally framing policies, program and code of ethics which may eliminate room for corruption in products, services and also emphasized to work externally with Government and civil society to raise voice for combating corruption in its worst form.

The keynote Speaker of the Seminar Secretary GCLN Fasihul Karim Siddiqi said that the adoption of the tenth principles of UN commits participants not only to avoid bribery, extortion and other forms of corruption but also to policies and concrete programs to address corruption. Companies are challenged to join government and civil society to realize a more transparent global economy. Business has a vested interest in social stability and the economic growth of Local communities it has suffered due to lost opportunities to external markets and supply chain. Business community can and should play its part in making corruption unacceptable. Mr. Fasih said that impact of corruption on private sector can be assessed by the fact that it adds up to 10 to 20 percent to cost of doing business. He said that according to World Bank bribery has become $ 1 trillion industry. Corruption is inherently wrong and is a misuse of power, position and has disproportionate impact on the disadvantaged. It undermines the integrity of all involved and damages the fabric of the organization to which they belong. Fasih further said that to fight corruption in all its forms is simply the right thing to do. Siddiq Sheikh of FPCCI in his presidential speech said that indulging in corruption was against the injunctions of Islam and as Muslims we must fight corruption and eliminate it from within us. M/s. U.R. Usmani of Employers' Federation of Pakistan, Reza Ali of Lions Clubs International, Nazar Ali Director Manpower, Government of Sindh, Tony Lazaro world class Football coach, Ansarul Haque of Radio Pakistan and others addressed the Seminar. The Seminar unanimously adopted the following three approaches to combat corruption: (a) Internally, make sure there are policies, systems, code of conduct risk assessment, monitoring and commitment; (b) Externally, be part of broader initiative, general awareness, rising campaigns, education initiatives, information campaigns on anti corruption; and (c) Collective action by engaging with other business stakeholders for sanitization on the need to corruption. Earlier, the Convener of Seminar and National Walk Col (Retd) Usman Bhatti said that let the message be spread to combat corruption and corrupt practices in the larger interest of business and its sustainability so to make our people a dignified place in the world community.

NATIONAL GLOBAL COMPACT CONFERENCE KARACHI HAILS GC/CSR CHAMPION COMPANIES AND CALLS UPON THEM FOR ENGAGING THEIR SUBSIDIARIES/SUPPLY CHAIN FOR WIDER GROWTH AND SUSTAINABILITY

Multinational, National Pakistani GC/ CSR champion companies must come forward in big numbers to join the Global Compact by also extending it to their subsidiaries and supply chain to show and prove that we believe in responsible business and by sustaining responsible business practices we can make globalization more inclusive and accessible. This was stated by Mr. S.M Muneer, Leader of the Business Community, while speaking as the Chief Guest at the "National Conference - Sustaining Business by embracing UN principles of Global Compact: Combating Business issues in Pakistan" organized by Global Compact Pakistan Local Network in collaboration with Employers' Federation of Pakistan, on 26th April, 2012 at Marriott Hotel Karachi.

Earlier Mr. Ahsanullah Khan, President GCPLN in his welcome address gave a clarion call to the business community to act before it was too late so that the universally acknowledged principles of UN Global Compact may be used by business to ensure sustainability in a turbulent environment caused by the new economic and social order after the failure of socialism and capitalism.

Mr. Fasihul Karim Siddiqi, Secretary GCPLN, appraised the Conference about the progress of Global Compact activities undertaken so far in Pakistan and said that it was time for large multinational and national companies to go beyond the boundaries of their own enterprises and engage their subsidiaries and supply chain companies mostly SMEs within the fold of UN Global Compact. This approach will strengthen the outreaching companies to extend their Global Compact family for their business sustainability on the one hand and on the other will help build a brand image of Pakistani business to offset the effect of damaging image being painted of Pakistan globally. He said that a modest target of 300 new members in the fold of Global Compact Pakistan is achievable if the Global Compact membership is considered with a pragmatic approach by business.

Haji Muhammad Javed, President EFP, in his remarks said he was proud to host the Global Compact movement in Pakistan initiated by its founding President and the Late President of EFP and IOE Mr. Ashraf W. Tabanai. He expressed the hope that the best practicing CSR/ GC Companies will come forward in big numbers to help the Local Network achieve its target set for the year in the GC membership drive.

Mr. Shouket Ali, President APTUC, in his address on the occasion assured full support of the workers and trade union federations of Pakistan who will work hand in hand with the local network to promote the GC principles in Pakistani companies.

Mr. Shah M. Saad Hussain, Director Corporate PARCO, made a lively presentation on, How his company has been able to make a big impact on organization and community environment by embracing the principle of UN Global Compact.

Dr. Abdul Wahab, President MAJU, in his inspiring key-note speech described how it was possible for business to survive by embracing the UNCC principle relating to Anti Corruption in an environment badly charged with corruption and corrupt practices. By giving example from his personal experiences and those of business enterprises, Dr. Wahab explained how creation of a positive internal working environment coupled with strong personal commitment of resistance can help business in combating the corruption issues around us.

Mr. Mir Hussain Ali, Secretary Environment, Government of Sindh speaking as the Guest of Honour at the occasion assured the Global Compact Local Network of governments' full support and cooperation in their initiatives to prevail upon business for embracing the UN principles of Global Compact. He specially invited business community and the Network to join the government in its effort to revamp the environmental laws to bring them in line with the related principles of Global Compact.

Ms. Ambreen Waheed, Director RBI, informed the Conference about the forth coming Corporate Sustainability Forum and the initiatives which Pakistani Network was planning to host a special event at Rio in June this year. She called upon business to enthusiastically participate in the event.

The inaugural session was followed by a business session in which highly interactive discussion on the theme of "Sustaining Business by embracing UN principles of Global Compact" was generated by a team of eminent panellists comprising of Mr. Francesco d'Ovidio, Country Director - ILO Islamabad who came all the way from Islamabad to attend the Conference, Haji Muhammad Javed, President EFP, Dr. Professor Mustaghees-ur-Rehman (SZABIST), Professor Humayun Zafar of CBM, Ms. Ambreen Waheed, Director RBI, Mr. Shouket Ali, President APTUC, Mr. Habib-ur-Rehman Junaidi of APTUC which was Moderated by Mr. Amin Nasurallah. A very lively Question and Answer session followed the discussion in which the participants and delegates actively participated.

AGENDA

QUESTIONS FOR PLENARY 1 & 2

Can hybrid businesses deliver more long-lasting solutions to local social and environmental problems?
How can true corporate sustainability be achieved? What kind of enabling environment is needed for promoting responsible businesses?
What are the challenges and opportunities for corporate sustainability because of globalization?
How can TNCs maintain and enforce their CSR policies and standards throughout their global supply chains in a competitive environment?
What is the role of the government, consumers and NGOs in promoting and facilitating responsible businesses?
How can governments use CSR as a component of their national competitiveness strategies to compete for 'quality' foreign investment and to position their exports globally?
How can business, government and NGOs effectively work together for corporate sustainability? What are the challenges to forming partnerships? What lessons can be learnt from the past to improve future collaboration?
What motivates companies to adopt a hybrid business model? What has been the impact?
What are the challenges and how are they avoided?
What have been the lessons learnt?

LAHORE CONFERENCE CALLS UPON BUSINESS AND STAKEHOLDERS TO CHANGE THE MINDSET AND BENEFIT FROM THE TEN PRINCIPLES OF UN GLOBAL COMPACT

(Lahore 18th July, 2012). "UNGC has bagged our parachute in shape of ten principles. Let us embrace them in our work culture and lift social face of business I assure you this parachute will work". This was stated by Mr. Altaf M Saleem, Chairman Shakarganj Group of Companies and former Chairman ERRRA who was speaking as the Chief Guest at the National Global Compact Conference organized by Global Compact Pakistan Local Network in collaboration with EFP, Lahore chamber, FPCCI and FFC at Hotel Pearl Continental Lahore on 18th July, 2012.

Mr. Altaf Saleem said that human rights, labour rights, environment and anticorruption are not compliance issues. Efforts in these areas do not add cost in real terms. We need a mindset change. "All of these initiatives lead to cost reduction and improvement in bottom line in the long run. Waste is reduced, profitability increases, sensitivities shown to dignity of labour, quality gets better, energy efficiency is achieved and new business opportunities come their way and every one gains from such a situation", Mr. Altaf emphasised.

We need to reverse the dangerous trend of unsustainable consumption of resources. Better choices that place the natural world at the centre of the economy and business models must be made. This, Mr. Altaf said, will then enable us to create a just and equitable society providing food, water and energy for all and to sustainable management of earth to natural capacity. Mr. Altaf called upon all stakeholders to closely work with business to bring the desired mind set change so that the benefits of living with the ten principles of UN Global Compact can be fully utilized to achieve the objectives of global sustainability.

Earlier, Mr. Haji Muhammad Javed, Acting President of the Global Compact Pakistan Local Network and the President of the Employers' Federation of Pakistan in his welcome address said that Pakistani business was operating in most turbulent circumstances and it was necessary for business to come out of this turmoil and attain sustainability by embracing the ten principles of Global Compact which were much closer to the universally accepted principles and teachings of Islam as envisaged in the Quran and the business practices taught by the Holy Prophet (P.B.U.H)

Mr. Fasihul Karim Siddiqi, Secretary Global Compact Pakistan Local Network, explaining the objectives of the Conference called upon business to embrace the ten principles of Global Compact as the most formidable tool 'to engage in business as unusual' which was necessitated by the challenges of a fast changing business world. He urged upon business community to show their compassion by joining UNGC in large numbers and help the Local Network in achieving the target of 300 members by the end of the year so that a strong and positive message can be sent by Pakistani business to improve their global brand image for attracting responsible business initiatives, new global opportunities and foreign direct investment so vital for the socio-economic growth of Pakistan and sustainability of our business itself.

The Conference was also addressed by Key-Note speaker Mr. Mian Muhammad Idress, CEO Sitara Group of Companies, who in his speech urged upon Pakistani business to act positively before it was too late to build up their business foundations on sustainable footing and the ten principles of Global Compact provided our business enterprises a practical framework of developing business practices at the work place which can help them grow and achieve sustainability.

Mr. Zahoor Awan, General Secretary Pakistan Workers Federation in his address assured the full support of the workers at the national and local level in joining hands with business to promote the ten Principles of UN Global Compact and thus increase the capacity of our business community to meet the challenges of globalization.

Mr. Ahmed Hassan of Fauji Fertilizer Company welcomed the participants of the Conference and informed them about the initiatives their company had taken in practising the ten principles of Global Compact through their numerous projects. Mr. Imran Shah of FFC made a presentation on Pakistan's first Grid Connected Wind Power Project initiated by FFC which will trigger environmentally responsible growth in the community for social change.

The Conference was enlivened by a highly interactive panel discussion on the theme of 'Sustaining Business by Embracing UNGC Principles' which was moderated by Mr. Tariq H Cheema CEO, World Congress of Muslim Philanthropists and joined by panellists Mr. Tariq Saeed, Member EFP Management Committee, Mr. Ahmed Jaudat Bilal, Managing Director Agritech Ltd, Mr. Saqib Mohiuddin, CEO Business Support Fund Government of Pakistan, Mr. Muhammad Nazim, Director General, Centre for Globally Responsible Leaders, University of Management and Technology, Lahore and Ms. Ambreen Waheed, Executive Director RBI.

SOCIAL FACE OF SIALKOT WIDER THAN ITS ECONOMIC FEET 17 COMPANIES SIGN THE UN GLOBAL COMPACT AT SIALKOT CONFERENCE

(Sialkot, 19th July, 2012). Khawaja Muhammad Asif, Member National Assembly, Chowdhry Akhlaq, Member Provincial Assembly, Khawaja Zakauddin, Leader of Sialkot Business Community, Mr. Aslam Dar, Mr. Waheed Sandal and Mr. Ishaq Butt, former Presidents and Mr. Zafar Iqbal Jaffery, Senior VP of Sialkot Chamber unanimously supported the ten principles of UN Global Compact, declaring that the business community of Sialkot was practicing most of them as part of their work culture. The declaration came on the eve of the National Global Compact Conference – Sustaining Best Business Practices organized by Global Compact Pakistan Local Network in collaboration with Employers' Federation of Pakistan, Sialkot Chamber and FPCCI at the Sialkot Chamber Auditorium on 19th July, 2012.

Mr. Abdul Waheed Sandal, Convener of the Conference, Vice President and Regional Chairman Lahore office FPCCI welcomed the participants of the Conference and declared it a pleasant opportunity for Sialkot business to convey the important role played by it in the socio-economic development of the country as a role model of export business in Pakistan.

Mr. Haji Muhammad Javed, Acting President Global Compact Pakistan Local Network and President Employers' Federation of Pakistan reiterated the bold initiatives taken by Sialkot business community for combating the issue of child labour and expanding the ILO Decent Work Country Programme in collaboration with Employers' Federation of Pakistan and called upon Sialkot Business Community to show the same enthusiasm and spirit in embracing the ten principles of UN Global Compact as these principles were closest to the teachings and business traditions of our religion, Islam.

Mr. Fasihul Karim Siddiqi, Secretary Global Compact Pakistan Local Network explained the objectives of the Conference and emphasized that the business community of Sialkot operating as the export centre of Pakistan was in a unique position to achieve business sustainability and secure increasing access to the global export market for itself by embracing the ten principles of UN Global Compact. By so doing, it can also send a strong and positive message to the world that Sialkot was ready to avail new business opportunities created by globalization particularly at a time when the European parliament was considering legislation which could qualify Pakistan for GSP+ status. He appealed to the business community of Sialkot to come forward and respond to the UNGC membership drive in a big way for building their brand business image within and outside the country.

Mr. Khawaja Zakauddin, Ex- President Sialkot Chamber and Leader of the Sialkot Business Community, who was the Guest of Honor at the event, said that the business environment in Sialkot is most conducive at the moment for Sialkot companies to embrace the UN principles of Global Compact. He made a clarion call to the business enterprises of Sialkot to join the Global Compact and show their preparedness to embrace the UNGC principles in their work culture which will bring local expansion and global sustainability most vital in their own as well as national interest.

Mr. Khawaja Muhammad Asif, Member of the National Assembly, while speaking as the Chief Guest on the occasion recalled the selfless contribution the business community of Sialkot for building the socio-economic, political and industrial infrastructure of the country by mostly utilizing its own resources. He paid rich tributes to the business leadership of Sialkot for the initiatives it had taken in converting Sialkot into Pakistan's largest export city, building its own Airport, Dry port, Roads and socio-economic networks. He criticized the government for its economic and industrial policies and urged upon the need to make them environment and business friendly.

Business, Academia and Civil Society debate on UNGC Principles in the light of Quran and Islam

Karachi 15th September 2012: 36th Business talk CSR Meeting held at the Federation House FPCCI, Karachi brought the business enterprises, academia NGO's and Civil society to debate on UNGC Principles in the light of Quran and Islam.

The event was organized by Global Compact Pakistan local network in collaboration with Employers Federation of Pakistan with a view to highlight how close are the ten United Nations Global Compact Principles to the teachings of Quran and Sunnah and other sources of Islamic learning.

Mr. Fasihul Karim Siddiqi, Secretary of the Network presented his research article on the subject which extensively highlighted, based on quotations from the Holy Quran, as to how each of the ten principles of the UN Global Compact find their strong relevance in Quran, Sunnah and Islamic teachings. This interesting and informative research paper reveals that what is now being invoked by the UNGC in the form of ten principles forms the Muslim Code of Conduct outlined 1400 yrs ago in the Holy book of Quran and ordained in the teaching of Islam and the practices of Holy Prophet (PBUH)

Prominent speakers, Mr. Siddiq Sheikh of FPCCI, Mr. Shoukat Ali President of All Pakistan Trade Union Congress, Mr. Raza Ali Director Newports Institute and Prof. Dr. Mustagis Ur Rehman of SZABIST, in their remarks, appreciated the research effort and highlighted upon the need for more research on the subject which addresses an interesting dimension that remains to be fully explored.

The speakers pointed out that the research paper may be improved and that it may be properly vetted by few more prominent religious scholars. The need was stressed for disseminating this research work among stakeholders for a better understanding and promotion of UNGC Principles on the one hand and on the other hand the article can also be improved as a research article for publication in leading research journals as the subject is likely to invoke considerable interest among the researchers globally.

Mr. Haji Mohammad Javed, President of Employers Federation in Pakistan speaking as Chief Guest on the occasion highly appreciated the efforts of looking at UNGC principles from religious dimension which revealed that compliance with these UNGC principles by business community and stake holders brings exposure to our living realities and strengthened our belief that while embracing the UNGC Principles, we are, in fact, embracing the moral values and principles taught by our religion. He expressed the hope that more vistas of learning will be opened by the debate generated in this meeting which will help in promoting the UNGC Principles more effectively in Pakistan and the Muslim world.

Mr. Zahid Anwar a leading businessman from Faisalabad, Chairman, Standing Committee on Dairy Farming, Chairman, Pakistan-UK Business Council, who was presiding over the meeting, in his presidential remarks, expressed the need of widest possible dissemination of this research material among business community in the leading business cities of Pakistan and extended his assistance in organizing such an event in Faisalabad.

The event was largely attended by the representatives of the business community, Civil Society, academia who actively participated in the discussions that followed the presentation. The event ended with a vote of thanks by the chair followed by lunch.

37th Business Talk CSR on SECP GUIDELINES ON CSR

Declaring FPCCI support for SECP's initiative to encourage responsible business activities which promote community growth for public interest, Begum Salma Ahmed the first ever lady Vice President of FPCCI, in her inaugural address, reiterated that inspite of being surrounded by challenges on numerous fronts, the business community of Pakistan has always been at the forefront when it comes to giving back to the society. She urged upon corporations and business entities to endeavour involving people from diverse backgrounds more importantly women, minority groups and disabled persons in their workforce. Encouraging such a diversity will lead to tolerance, respect and a more congenial work environment fundamental to the growth of any society, stated Begum Ahmed. She was addressing the 37th Business Talk CSR meeting organised at the FPCCI's Federation House by Global Compact Pakistan Network in collaboration with Employers Federation of Pakistan and FPCCI.

The Chief Guest Mr. Haji Muhammad Javed, the President of the Employers Federation of Pakistan, speaking at the occasion appreciated the Global Compact Pakistan Network for actively bringing the business, workers, academia, NGOs and civil society on one platform on issues which are vital for sustainable business development. Initiating this social dialogue on the SECP's draft Guidelines for business on CSR was a timely step as it was the first initiative in the way of developing consensus on a document which is going to have a big impact on future business competitiveness. Expressing EFP's full support to the initiative, he said, conveying the soft image of Pakistan and its business was among EFP's priorities as our commitment to social development is inspired by the deep rooted values inscribed in the teachings of Islam and our holy Prophet (PBUH). Haji. Javed called upon the speakers and panelists to help the Network in developing a model business policy on CSR which can be recommended to all public and private companies for adoption with necessary modifications as the prime step towards implementing the SECP Guidelines.

Mr Faisal Zawwar, Managing Partner, CERVELOT Management & Strategy Consultants, in his key note presentation highlighted the salient features of the SECP draft Guidelines on CSR which was supposed to be enacted in July this year and reviewed the sorrow state of readiness of Pakistani companies

Reviewing the situation, he commented that CSR was conceived as corporate philanthropy and green washing, was used as a marketing gimmick, with no regulation, strategy/ policy of integration and stakeholder engagement and no framework for CSR/ Sustainability reporting. He opined that in response, Pakistani companies must adopt sustainable practices to improve processes and productivity at the same time reducing negative environmental impact, build a business case for CR&S as opposed to the normative case for sustainability, identify and distinguish sustainability and green washing, develop, implement and integrate operations in line with sustainability policy and reporting framework. The companies should develop a framework for CSR in Pakistan by embedding the ten principles of UN Global Compact, Mr. Faisal concluded.

Mr. Shaukat Ali, President, All Pakistan Trade Union Congress, appreciated the SECP initiative of CSR Guidelines for public companies and advocated its coverage to private companies, SMEs and small business ventures also. He was of the opinion that as a first step, CSR practices need to evolve through an institution for CSR dialogue with stakeholders that respond to our changing market demand. Terming this meeting as the right step by the Global Compact Pakistan Network for initiating policy dialogue among stakeholders, he suggested, it was the right time to start a wide ranging and multi-tiered awareness campaign to enable all to understand the advantages of CSR and to form a task force for the purpose, to introduce CSR as a business topic starting from business and commerce education to the highest level of trade negotiations, and to introduce tax exemptions, rebates, awards, public recognition and other initiatives for those with higher rating in CSR.

GLOBAL COMPACT Network Pakistan

The trade union leader also suggested that the EFP and the Global Compact Network may think of sponsoring a national CSR Forum, an information dissemination network with a dedicated website and newsletter.

Mr. Shah, M. Saad. Hussain, General. Manager, Corporate. Affairs, in his plenary address said since CSR was going to drive the way of conducting business, the SECP Guidelines were a timely Initiative. He made some useful suggestions in improving upon the Guidelin by suggesting that (a) the word 'compliance' may be substituted by 'adoption' as the former sound much too strong and legal, (b) policy should be linked with strategic intent of business, (c) 'indicators' framework should not be copied and the one specific for Pakistan may be developed, (d) CSR Consultative Committee should be headed by the Co's CEO, (e) Independent Assurance should be authoritative and cross functional and they should be conducted by a Forum comprising of representatives from SECP, FPCCI, EFP and UNGCPLN to give the institution more credibility and acceptability by business.

Dr. Mustaghisur Rahman, Director and MS/ PhD Program Coordinator, SZABIST, in his plenary address advocated that business should take CSR as a competitive strategy. He opined that the SECP document lacked in building a case why CSR should be done by business. He said a Company's responsibilities in CSR towards its own employees, investors, customers, suppliers and community at large need to be explained and understood. He emphasised that business need to invest rather than spend in CSR to grow and develop society which in turn will promote their business and that a decaying society can not promote business. CSR was therefore in business interest and in the larger interest of competitiveness and sustainability. Dr. Mustaghis strongly argued that giving for CSR was of an important strategic dimension to be taken up by business not as an expense but as an investment in people and society which was bound to yield returns in terms of profit and dividends in respect of ethical responsibility.

Mr. Mirza Raza Ali, Director, Newports Institute and Chief Executive Officer of Lions Clubs International in Pakistan, in his plenary address called for increasing the scope of CSR as most of the areas of interest identified in the SECP document still focus on philanthropy. He called upon SECP to create a HUB for CSR which can provide guidance to companies in identifying areas of interest specific to their business goals and strategies and allocation of resources. Mr. Raza mentioned about 65 business models developed by students of his Institute in the last few years and emphasised that a close liaison of business with the academia and the research organisations through the proposed CSR Hub could facilitate the process of CSR sensitisation among stakeholders in a more effective and meaningful manner.

Mr. Rahat Aziz, Faculty at the Sindh Judicial Academy, in his plenary address opined that all the listed companies may be advised to form a Section 42 company by virtue whereof the whole exercise of CSR will be more formalised, regularised and legalised. Sec 42 company will have its object clause which can be its CSR policy commensurate with vision and mission of the holding company. Sec 42 company being a public company will have its own accounts which will then be audited as per law. It being the subsidiary of its holding company, the accounts are required to be consolidated. Mr. Aziz was of the view that such a course will help in harmonising the CSR activities of public companies.

Mr. Siddique Sheikh, Founding CSR Chair of FPCCI in his address on the occasion said that business has to be pure and legitimate and their intentions, words and acts must coincide as it is accountable in Islam for how they earned and spent money. He said meeting Hoquq ul Ebad is a basic obligation of every Muslim and there is no escape for business from it. CSR is another name for this obligation which is built into the very framework of our religious system and we therefore don't even need to look for another model for embedding CSR into our business. He called upon academia and scholars to come forward with the knowledge of extensive research already available on the subject so as to sensitise our business on principles very basic to the teachings of Islam which can make business sustainable in its true meaning

Mr. Anwarul Haq of FPCCI in his brief intervention, stressed upon the the need to corelate the core issues identified in the SECP Guidelines

Mr. Fasihul Karim Siddiqi, Secretary, Global Compact Pakistan Network while summing up the discussion in his concluding remarks said that the SECP Guidelines indicated the writings on the wall which the business today has to embrace to survive tomorrow. He thanked the speakers and the panelists for engaging themselves so profoundly in the policy dialogue initiated by the Global Compact Pakistan Network on this important topic which has a far reaching impact on the sustainability issues related with our business and to which a formidable response was available to business in their act of embedding the ten principles of UN Global Compact advocated by the Network through a series of initiatives like the one taken through this stakeholder parleys. He looked forward that the valuable suggestions given by the stakeholders in this meeting will be consolidated and presented to SECP so that a detailed discussion for business engagement may take place before giving the Guidelines a final shape for meaningful implementation. He thanked the business organisations and academia for joining hands and hoped that soon the government will be on board to draw the roadmap for sustainable business development in Pakistan.

He also mentioned that the guidelines are a framework for businesses to follow and that they should be implemented in a way that is beneficial to the society.

United Nations Global Compact

General Communication on Progress (COP) Submission Process: A Step-by-Step Guide

The participant administration section (www.unglobalcompact.org/login) of the United Nations Global Compact website was developed to facilitate the maintenance of participant information and submission of the annually required Communication on Progress (COP).

This step-by-step guide is intended to illustrate the process of submitting a COP at the GC Active level without using the Basic COP Template. The process should take no longer than 10 minutes.

During the initial registration, individuals listed as 'Company Contact Points' of participating organizations receive a personal login and password by email to manage their organization's record. Upon login to the site, contact points can submit their organization's COP, add new contacts, modify contact information and assign different roles to each contact.

If you have lost your login information, please use the password reset tool to have a new password sent to your registered email (www.unglobalcompact.org/password/new).

Step 1- Submitting a Communication on Progress

Go to the administration section of the Global Compact website by clicking on the 'Login' link on the Global Compact homepage (www.unglobalcompact.org). Alternatively, you can go directly to the administration site (www.unglobalcompact.org/login).

Upon reaching the login screen (pictured below), please enter your personalized 'Username' and 'Password.' Note that all characters are case-sensitive and have no extra spaces.

In case you do not know your login information, click on the link below the login fields ('Forgot your username or password?'), enter your registered email address, and your login information will be sent to you. Please note that login information will only be sent to email addresses stored in our database.

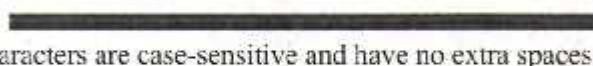

Step 2- Submitting a Communication on Progress

Upon login, you will be taken to your personalized administration page, which allows you to manage existing or add new contacts within your organization, request the use of the UN Global Compact Logo, submit a Case Story and submit a COP.

To submit a COP, click on 'COPs' in the header navigation and then click on 'New Communication on Progress'

Step 3- Submitting a Communication on Progress

You are now in the introduction page that explains the COP submission process, and provides access to the three COP submission pages of the United Nations Global Compact Differentiation Programme and the Grace Letter submission page.

Step 4 - Submitting a Communication on Progress

During this step, your COP can be uploaded along with general information on its content and format.

To submit your COP, please click on the 'COP Submission' tab and then 'New COP Submission.'

Step 5- Submitting a Communication on Progress

You will be asked to answer six (6) questions on the format and content of your COP.

Step 6- Submitting a Communication on Progress

Once you have answered all the questions, a 'Submit your COP' tab will appear on the left side which will let you attach your file and finalize your submission. Please click on this tab.

Step 7- Submitting a Communication on Progress

You must upload your organization's COP as a PDF file. Please note that you are able to attach multiple files to your COP by clicking 'Add a PDF file'.

If you do not have a PDF file of your COP, please click on 'Create a PDF file'.

Optionally, you may add a link pointing to:

- The COP on your website;
- A complementary file to the COP such as policy documents or performance data;
- Specific sections of your website covering the Global Compact principles.

Once you have attached your PDF file and optionally your web-link, please click the 'Submit' button in the bottom right of the webpage.

Step 8- Submitting a Communication on Progress

Once your COP has been accepted by the system, you will be automatically redirected to the 'Communication on Progress Details' screen. This is the final step in the submission process.

If you would like further confirmation that your COP has been approved, please click on 'View public version' which will take you to the public page of that COP. Optionally, you may perform a participant search (www.unglobalcompact.org/participants/search) for your company on our public webpage.
